

the Undiscovered

A peaceful little rural village is disturbed by a horror movie being filmed in the area. Little do the production company know, but the villagers have their own wee secret to keep... will it escape?

'The Undiscovered' was made by and features people who live in and around the Moorfoot Community Council area in Midlothian. In addition to it being a fun thing to do for the more than 100 of the local community who participated, it is raising funds for Temple Village Hall, Temple Nursery & Playgroup and a new Temple Film Club.

The film is being premiered in Temple Village Hall on the 6th March 2010 at 6pm (sold out already). This will be a red carpet event with everyone dressing up and the stars arriving by "limo".

As well as the main feature there will also be another short film 'A Wolf's Tale', and an exhibition with photographs and props from the filming.

A matinee showing will also take place on Sunday 7th March at 2pm.

This project has really sparked community interest and involvement and at a packed coffee morning in Temple recently a trailer for the film was greeted with great enthusiasm and anticipation.
